

The Association of Self Insured Employers of Queensland (ASIEQ) is a representative group acting primarily for licensed self-insured employers within the Queensland workers' compensation environment.

As a representative group, ASIEQ continues to strive for better outcomes, by supporting our members in delivering leading injury management initiatives that achieve positive return to work outcomes for our people, businesses and community.

Our members, represent over 300 individual employers, employing more than 200,000 Queensland workers. Whilst our members operate across vastly different industries and businesses, a common thread that is shared is our strategic commitment to injury prevention and responsive injury management.

We believe the opportunity to self-insure provides a vehicle for managing the cost of workplace injuries that compliments & enhances an existing culture and environment to provide increased opportunities and incentives to prevent injuries and improve outcomes for injured workers.

Our association is committed to improving the Queensland scheme and strives to build relationships with key stakeholders with a view to developing and promoting initiatives that will continue to reduce the social and financial costs of workplace injury and illness.

How to join ASIEQ

Ordinary Members	Associate Members
To be a member an organisation must be licensed as a self-insurer under the Queensland workers' compensation legislation or an employer with over 1000 workers employed in Queensland and who has an interest in the aims of the Association, self-insurance and/or employer based injury management.	Organisations that have an interest in the aims of the Association, self-insurance and/or employer based injury management including the provision of medical health, safety or injury management services to self-insured employers are eligible for Associate Membership of the Association.

If you require any further information you can visit www.asieq.com.au or contact us directly at asieq@aseiq.com.au or phone (07) 3112 1085.